

SPUMA NERA

Spuma Nera, or “dark Spuma” as it was once called, may be considered the “mother” of chinotto. We have chosen to go back to the traditional recipe: a basis of chinotto (a myrtle-leaf orange drink), with the addition of the reddish part of rhubarb roots and an orange zest and vanilla infusion.

Like all other Baladin soft drinks, Spuma Nera is 100% natural and no colorings or preservatives are added.

Pairings

Drink it on its own as aperitif or as cocktail with dark rum and orange or for a quick lunch, teasing the palate with quality products.
